NEC Statements

Following Jeremy Corbyn's election as Leader the NEC has agreed the following statement to go to Conference. The statement deals with the campaign pledges Jeremy made during his re-election campaign and represent the vision on which he was elected. Conference is asked to support this as the basis of a plan which would be put to the National Policy Forum as the framework for policy making over the coming months.

NEC statement: What Labour Stands For

The Tory Government is taking Britain backwards and failing to meet the challenges of our time. These ten pledges set out the framework for what Labour will campaign for - and what a Labour government will do.

1. Full Employment

We will create a million good quality jobs across our regions and nations, and guarantee a decent job for all. By investing £500 billion in infrastructure and industry backed up by a publicly-owned National Investment Bank and regional banks we will build a high skilled, high tech, low carbon economy to ensure that no one and no community is left behind. We will invest in the high speed broadband, energy, transport and homes that our country needs and allow good businesses to thrive, and support a new generation of co-operative enterprises.

2. A secure homes guarantee

We will build over a million new homes in five years, with at least half a million council homes, through our public investment strategy. We will end insecurity for private renters by introducing rent controls, secure tenancies and a charter of private tenants' rights, and increase access to affordable home ownership.

3. Security at Work

We will give people stronger employment rights from day one in a job, end exploitative zero hours contracts and create new sectoral collective bargaining rights. We will strengthen working people's representation at work and the ability of trade unions to organise, so that working people have a real voice at work. And we will put the defence of social and employment rights, as well as action against undercutting of pay and conditions through the exploitation of migrant labour, at the centre of the Brexit negotiations agenda for a new relationship with Europe.

4. A secure NHS and social care

We will end health service privatisation and bring services into a secure, publicly-provided NHS. We will integrate the NHS and social care for older and disabled people, funding dignity across the board, and ensure parity for mental health services.

5. A National Education Service

We will build a new National Education Service, open to all throughout their lives. We will ensure there is universal childcare to give all children a good start in life, allowing greater sharing of caring responsibilities and removing barriers to women participating in the labour market. We will bring about the progressive restoration of free education for all; and guarantee quality apprenticeships and adult skills training.

6. Action to secure our environment

We will act to protect the future of our planet, with social justice at the heart of our environmental policies, and take action to fulfil the Paris climate agreement. We will ensure a fair transition to a low-carbon economy, and drive the expansion of the green industries and jobs of the future, using our National Investment Bank to invest in public and community-owned renewable energy. We will deliver clean energy and curb energy bill rises for households – energy for the 60 million, not the Big Six energy companies. We will defend and extend EU environmental protections.

7. Put the public back into our economy

We will rebuild public services and expand democratic participation, put the public back into our economy, give people a real say in their local communities with increased local and regional democracy. We will act to ‘insource’ our public and local council services, increase access to leisure, arts and sports across the country, and expand our publicly-controlled bus network. We will bring our railways into public ownership and extend democratic social control over our energy.

8. Cut inequality in income and wealth

We will build a progressive tax system so that wealth and the highest earners are fairly taxed, and shrink the gap between the highest and lowest paid. We will act to create a more equal society, boost the incomes of the poorest and close the gender pay gap.

9. Action to secure an equal society

We will ensure that the human rights of all citizens are respected and all are protected from discrimination and prejudice. We will take action to tackle violence against women and girls, racism and discrimination on the basis of faith, and secure real equality for LGBT and disabled people. We will defend the Human Rights Act and guarantee full rights for EU citizens living and working in Britain – and not allow them to be used as pawns in Brexit negotiations.

10. Peace and justice at the heart of foreign policy

We will put conflict resolution and human rights at the heart of foreign policy, commit to working through the United Nations, end support for aggressive wars of intervention and back effective action to alleviate the refugee crisis. We will build human rights and social justice into trade policy, honour our international treaty obligations on nuclear disarmament and encourage others to do the same.

NEC Statement: International Trade

Conference welcomes the contribution that trade and investment can make to jobs, innovation and sustainable low-carbon growth in the UK and around the world. Conference recognises the importance of a progressive trade policy that ensures the benefits of globalisation are equitably shared; but notes that the Conservative government is attempting to secure trade agreements that could damage UK companies, threaten workers' rights and even undermine parliamentary sovereignty itself.

Conference welcomes the Party's development of a progressive UK trade and investment policy as the basis for campaigns in opposition and for implementation by a future Labour government that:

- Protects and promotes skilled jobs, human rights and workers' rights based on internationally recognised labour standards;
- Preserves and enhances existing social, health and environmental regulations and the right of governments to regulate in their public's interest;
- Upholds the principle of equality before the law, rejecting any privileged status afforded to foreign investors by way of investor-state dispute settlement, special court, arbitration panel or similar mechanism;
- Safeguards the provision of public services in the public interest and ensures no legislative restriction on public sector ownership or renationalisation;
- Allows national and local government bodies, when making procurement decisions, to take into account democratically determined public policy objectives;
- Engages with civil society, is fully transparent and subject to parliamentary scrutiny.

Constitutional Amendments (Rule Changes)

Today Conference will consider constitutional amendments proposed by the National Executive Committee (NEC) and CLPs.

The full text of the NEC Rule Changes is printed in Appendix 1 and the CLP rule changes are Appendix 2 of this report.

Here is a summary of the rules changes to be debated today and the NEC's recommendation:

Composite Motions

The following composite motions will be debated today

Composite 9 - Housing

On 9 August 2016 Shelter published research highlighting the plight of millions of working families who are struggling to afford sky-high housing costs. Shelter's chief executive said these families are 'stretched to breaking point and barely scraping by from one pay cheque to the next.'

The research also reveals that a fifth of working parents face the prospect of being immediately unable to pay their next rent or mortgage payment if they lose their job.

This Conference agrees that the Housing and Planning Act is an exercise in social cleansing, gerrymandering and a threat to all except landlords and developers making money from the housing crisis.

Conference recognises that the Tories' Housing and Planning Act will, if implemented, disastrously increase the problems facing those in need of decent and affordable housing.

Conference supports calls from councils across the country for the government to pause and review the Act's provisions.

Conference opposes measures in the housing act that will:

- Introduce a 'tenant tax' to increase the rent for many social housing tenants to unaffordable levels.
- Force councils to sell off void council dwellings and ask registered providers to operate the Right-to-Buy, thus massively reducing stocks of vitally needed social rented housing.
- Scrap the permanent, secure, social housing tenancies which provide stability to our most vulnerable communities.
- Replace the planning requirement for social rented units with that for unaffordable starter homes.

Labour will lead a campaign against the housing act and welcomes the Labour leadership's commitment to repeal the housing act and deliver 'genuinely affordable housing'.

Labour is committed to campaign for and in government Labour will deliver:

- A massive increase in the supply of council housing, including social rented housing.
- A housing strategy that uses public money and land to increase the supply of council housing with security of tenure at genuinely affordable rents;
- A massive council house building programme which will both rebalance the economy by creating jobs and also empower local authorities with the necessary resources.

Composite 7 – NHS

Conference confirms Labour's commitment to an NHS which is publicly funded and free at the point of use and calls on the Labour Party to mount an active campaign to highlight the dangers facing the service as a result of the Government's underfunding and poor management of the NHS.

Conference notes: The rising tide of cuts and privatisation engulfing the NHS and social care nationwide. Conference believes that the closure of NHS direct and privatisation of NHS 111 have been a disaster leading to increased pressure on A&E. Conference further notes the 11 August revelation from NHS England that waiting-time targets for operations, A&E and ambulances are consistently being missed. Conference deplores the Conservatives' prioritisation of financial objectives above those of clinical need and their proposals for devolved Sustainability and Transformation Plans (STPs) merely seek to evade their own responsibility for NHS cuts. Conference condemns the Tory government and Jeremy Hunt MP for attacking the NHS and our junior doctors and condemns the imposition of an unsafe and unfair contract. Government should put an immediate brake on the imposition of the new contract and listen to the very real concerns about patient safety that are coming from every sector of the NHS workforce. Jeremy Hunt's 'Seven-day NHS' plan is unrealistic and unsafe without the commitment of further resources.

Conference applauds Labour's commitment to an NHS which is fully publicly funded, owned, accountable and free (including prescriptions, dentistry, optical care) NHS. Conference therefore calls on all sections of the Labour Party to campaign together with patients, healthworkers, unions and all other NHS supporters for:

- Adequate NHS funding
- Constructive dialogue with organisations representing doctors, nurses and other healthworkers
- an end to NHS privatisation
- Ending PFI; liberating the NHS from debt
- Integration of the NHS with social care systems which are also publicly provided and funded
- Adequate funding for Mental Health Services including community based services
- Tackling causes of ill-health, e.g. poverty, austerity, poor housing and education
- An urgent reduction in waiting times
- Adequate numbers of properly remunerated staff
- Reversing the Conservatives replacement of health professional student bursaries with loans and the imposition of tuition fees
- recognition of the vital NHS role played by 50,000 EU nationals
- no service closures (or "reconfigurations") without proper local consultation and consent;
- exclusion of our NHS from TTIP, CETA and other free trade agreements;

- campaigning with the NHS Bill initiative
- a rolling programme of increased public ownership of clinical, ancillary, and back office services.

As Nye Bevan said, our NHS will survive as long as there are people to defend it.

Composite 10 – Grammar Schools

Conference abhors the Government proposal to encourage the creation of more Grammar Schools in England. Conference believes education is a collective good that benefits, not just individual pupils/students but society as a whole. Conference views the recent proposals set forth by Justine Greening MP for Putney to expand grammar schools and to remove the cap on faith-based admissions as divisive. Conference believes that the best interests of all children, and the country, would be better served by providing adequate resources for all schools to match the highest achieving ones. Conference notes that grammar schools fail the poorest students “less than 3% of their students are eligible for free school meals (FSM), whereas the average proportion in selective areas is 18%” and that grammar schools encourage inequality. Since there is no evidence that grammar schools improve social mobility or educational outcomes conference condemns this proposal as a retrograde step. Conference recognises that the purpose of education should be to provide all children, irrespective of background or specific needs, with the skills, knowledge enthusiasm and understanding necessary to lead a rewarding and fulfilling life. Conference therefore commits the Labour Party to opposing any expansion to selective education and also to the establishment in all areas of a genuinely comprehensive and inclusive secondary education system that provides for all children according to their needs as well as ensuring a greater voice for councillors, parents and professionals.

Composite 8 – Energy

Conference notes that: the USA and China have ratified the 2015 Paris Agreement on Climate Change on 4/5 September but the Government has failed to do so; the Government in merging the Department of Energy and Climate Change into the new Department of Business, Energy and Industrial Strategy has signalled that Climate Change is irrelevant;

Conference condemns the Government’s refusal to ratify the Paris Agreement immediately and calls on the Government to both ratify it immediately and seek to meet its obligations before 2050. Conference reaffirms its commitment to both a carbon-neutral environment and limiting global temperatures to 1.5 degrees above pre-industrial ones.

Britain needs investment in energy and a strategic plan that balances environmental considerations, the need to tackle fuel poverty and job creation in the UK.

The UK has an obligation to tackle climate change and create a lower carbon economy. Renewables have an important part to play in the energy mix but so far the Government have not created the jobs we need in manufacturing. Foreign corporations and governments see investment in British energy as a better investment than our own government does. Gas continues to be an important part of the energy mix, with 80% of homes being gas heated and many industries relying on it.

Conference notes that: the government dithered and delayed on Hinkley Point, leading to instability and uncertainty, finally making a decision on September 15th.

Conference condemns government failure to:

- Build a cohesive energy policy that guarantees the long-term security of our energy needs
- Develop a long-term plan to build renewables into our energy mix
- Invest in infrastructure and stem the flow of UK energy jobs going broad.

Conference calls for Labour to develop and campaign for a balanced, mixed energy policy which includes renewables, continuing and new nuclear power, gas and carbon capture and storage alongside direct investment in UK infrastructure, supporting and creating skilled UK energy jobs and training opportunities, while lowering bills, keeping the lights on and heating

Conference believes tackling climate change ahead of international obligations is an urgent priority for the next Labour Government, which alongside tackling climate change must not only protect related, skilled employment but also generate new clean, renewable energy-related businesses, employment and skills training throughout the United Kingdom.

Moreover it should produce a detailed policy document that addresses all of UK energy security, carbon reduction, value for money, incentives and investment for wind, wave and solar, support for large scale domestic insulation.

Constitutional Amendments

Throughout the year the NEC has consulted on a number of organisational changes to better reflect the concerns of our local communities and to ensure that our party activity is focused on activity, not bureaucracy.

There has been a high level of engagement in this consultation process. There have been many opportunities for party members, CLPs and other party units to feedback via questionnaires on the Party website and via regionally and locally organised consultation events.

These measures give greater support to our members – our women members, under-represented members and our councillors, and greater autonomy to Scotland and Wales.

Other rule changes are tidying up rule changes in the light of situations which have arisen in the last 12 months.
